Manufactoria is a fun open-ended puzzle game about building robots in a bizarre parallel universe. Your goal is simple: build as many awesome assembly lines as possible. And that's not all: try to do it all as fast as you can! Beside the usual approach of building parts and robots, you have a few unique elements: 1) A strange form of paper that stores the core of every robot. You can look at these like Tetris pieces that set up the shape of the robot as a consequence of your actions. 2) A robotic arm and leg that each have a number of different operations that you can try to apply to any of the numerous types of robots you build. 3) Smoothly moving balls and cubes with mechanics similar to a pinball table, that you can use to manipulate and even guide them around the factory. 4) A colorful cast of cute and powerful characters. They can help you, hinder you, make you laugh or even just get in the way. 5) An original soundtrack by the former leader of the electronic band UNKLE. How to Play 1) Find out how many types of robots you will need to build (in version 1.0 there is just one, and it's the most complex one - the "Hagbot". 2) Decide how many parts of different types you want to be able to build per assembly line (for the moment 4 is the max). 3) Build an assembly line where the parts are loaded in. 4) Go! 5) Keep an c9d1549cdd

What's new:

Games. With the Asian Championships this weekend being the first official event using the new Champion Edition, we take a look back at six of our favorite moments from previous events. 2006 World Cyber Games 2006 King of Fighters XIII's Dae Hoon and rising star M. Bison are on top. Hidden: For those of you who never saw it before, this is the first time we ever interviewed these two. In the original interview, the editors asked if Dae Hoon did or wanted to kill his opponent, and Dae Hoon famously answered "Why would I kill my opponent?!" and calmly conceded the match. While Dae Hoon goes on to lose 3-0, the interview is funny. 2007 SFIV European and American Regional Championships Dreamhacking's Daigo took the $10,000 first place winnings. Verdict: Daigo's opening match against Ryan Hart nets him a total of 343 BP. At this point in the tournament, he's sitting at 1,348 BP overall after only four matches. His flawless victory over SF4 Joe, who had amassed 737 BP before losing the match, solidified his status as a serious contender to take the USSF3 Grand Slam. This was only the second single major tournament that Daigo won, but this victory was to be his last before he gained a spot on New Japan Pro Wrestling. 2008 KOF XII World Championship Hide as "anyone" to harvest 200,000 Ki for a match against Daigo. Hidden: This is the first instance of "Hide as Human" in a Smackdown match. A big difference between Dsjidaism and ikid in this match is how much beater energy and crowd energy the two names harvest from the crowd. This general pattern remains true until 2011 and The International 2013. Falling Sky - The French CAE version of the 2008 version of KOF World Tour. Hidden: Verdi and Daigo line up in the after-fight interview. Verdi comes off sincere and coming off like a typical fighter, following the SFIV way of being passionate without the machismo. Daigo, on the other hand, comes off a bit of a jerk until you hear him say "I'll never lose again." It turned out he really meant it. 2011 KOF XIV Musou Festival Hide as any character to harvest 300,000
