You are on the cutting edge of gaming. I didnt find a single roblox free robux generator but that doesnt mean any dont exist. So how do you have 2.5 million robux? Are they free robux and you just used the old method of getting roblox money? Are they free robux that your parents paid you and you decided to give away for yourself? Are they just roblox free robux that you stole and after you delete all your games you want to keep them for yourself? I am not saying you are any of those. I am just trying to understand the wide range of people on this website of an extreme caliber? And by the way I have seen threads where people complain how there did not seem to be free robux or are we to assume all the robux you see are from free robux? I am just asking. This site is viewed by millions and I do not want them to feel like you are asking for any millionths. If this website is to get more attention than the millions who are using it, then this website needs to be the most mature of them all. I cant help but feel they are a bunch of immature kids getting off on murder? I can understand how that might be what they like, but I dont think it is for everyone. I am just trying to understand what the different groups are for on this website. Not what people think its about. If some people look at eachother and say its not about the roblox and its about the morons of this website for the simple purpose of getting a point across then everyone comes together. This is the first place where people like us come together and discuss. We just are a little more mature than others and they want us to be like them? Now I know I just answered my own question. We are a bunch of little kids who get off on seeing the movie, "Spongebob Squarepants." And we feel if we win a game or two of our game we are like all the stars that play on the field. I am sorry but I cant help but think of a bunch of little kids arguing and arguing and arguing about the game and making a bunch of other kids look bad. And that is what I am talking about here. We
