GrimDawnAshesofMalmouthCODEXhacktooldownload Any help will be helpful!! A: The code is likely to be in the Adobe AIR class library. 1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a pin for a refrigerant pipe which is applied to a compressor of an air conditioning system for a vehicle, wherein the refrigerant pipe is connected to a frame of the compressor with a fitting part which is formed on a rear end of the refrigerant pipe and connected to a pipe of the compressor with a fitting part formed on the front end of the refrigerant pipe. 2. Description of the Related Art A compressor for an air conditioning system for a vehicle is connected to the vehicle body through a refrigerant pipe. A fitting part is formed on the rear end of the refrigerant pipe and connected to a pipe of the compressor with a fitting part formed on a front end of the refrigerant pipe. The fitting parts are connected to each other by a pin. For example, Japanese Patent Laid-Open No. H11-155811 discloses a technique in which a fixing rib formed on an exterior surface of the fitting part of the refrigerant pipe is engaged in a circumferential groove formed on an exterior surface of the fitting part of the compressor pipe. However, in the conventional refrigerant pipe pin, in a case where the fixing rib formed on the fitting part of the refrigerant pipe is engaged in the circumferential groove formed on the fitting part of the compressor pipe, the fixing rib may be obliquely displaced relative to the circumferential groove. The oblique displacement of the fixing rib may undesirably cause a gap to be formed between the fixing rib and the circumferential groove. Particularly, in a case where a large amount of water drops are introduced into the refrigerant pipe pin, the fixing rib may be displaced and floated in the circumferential groove. The water drops may enter the gap between the fixing rib and the circumferential groove, and then, may deteriorate the pin. It is therefore an object of the present invention to provide a refrigerant pipe pin which is capable of preventing water from entering a gap between a fixing rib and a circumferential groove.
