When their eyes met, she saw in them the same question she had asked herself when he entered the room. She walked over to him, touched his arm. He lifted his head and saw her eyes. - All I could say is that I love you. She pressed her forehead against his chest, and he took her face in his hands and kissed her. - I love you, too," he repeated. - I couldn't say it, because I knew if I did, it would be different. But you... you mean so much to me. I love you. - Then you must tell me something else. - She clung to him. - What? - That if I ever become your wife... - What?" he said again. - Would you ever be my wife? - Yes, I will. If that's what you want. - Is that what you want? He didn't say "I love you." He didn't say anything at all except "do you want to?" For a second I thought he was going to kiss me. But he kept looking at me with this incomprehensible expression, and I knew it was a joke. He wanted to tell me that he loved me and that I wanted to be his wife. He loves me. And he wants me to be his wife. It took my breath away. I couldn't believe this was really happening, and I didn't know what to say. He put his arm around my shoulders. - That's why I had to meet you. - But you didn't say you loved me. - But I have a gift for you. He took a small envelope out of his pocket and handed it to me. I looked at it. It was empty. I opened it. There were two $500 notes in it. - Is that all you have to offer? - That's all. I couldn't have asked for more. - Then you want me to be your wife? - Yes, I do. - Good. (chuckles) I have everything I need. - What do you mean? - Well... - She lowered her eyes. - You know we have a house, a car, everything else. - But it's not enough. I still have a job. - I'm not talking about work. I'm talking about what I have, and the lost opportunity. We had love, you and I, and I want it back. I want to live with you again. - She touched his hair gently. - I would do anything for that. Anything. - Anything? - Yes, anything. In my opinion, this film is the best of the ten best films in Hollywood history. This film is a perfect example of art. It's a film about the meaning of life, about the meaning of life, about what true happiness is. Yes, there are elements of fantasy here, but is that a bad thing? Isn't it interesting to see a world where you can do anything you want to? There is nothing in this film that was not done with real genius. Everything from the script to the acting.
