you can now turn on the android reverse tethering policy via the soti mobicontrol console without deploying to devices that are already enrolled in the policy. you can also turn the policy off via the soti mobicontrol console without removing it from the devices. the devices become part of the wi-fi policy when the android reverse tethering policy is enabled. you can now update android devices for the mobicontrol android reverse tethering policy without pushing the update to those devices from your laptop. this is done directly from the mobile device without deploying mobicontrol on those devices. when the android reverse tethering policy is installed and the policy startup routine triggers for the first time, the update url is pushed to the devices and the devices can download the update directly to their apk cache and skip the download and installation on the device. you can now create android enterprise work policies with an android device within the soti mobicontrol console that point to only one of their device security policies. this allows you to preserve the security policy for a device that is used in a business setting while allowing it to be enrolled in additional enterprise policies. to make it easier to troubleshoot why a device is stuck on the last version of the android operating system (os) for the android enterprise work managed policy, you can now see the details of the os, security patch, and lifeguard patch information for each os and security patch level. you can now see more detailed information on the device which service policy is consuming the most device resources. this information is displayed in policydetails. to see all policy details, click the report button. the device will still show up as "no reason" in this section.
