The performance drop in Lr5.2 is not something that I have noticed in the beta releases. I am usually shooting in the 6000 to 10,000 range.
When I compare vs. 5.1.2 it is very similar in performance.

Pretty please with sugar on top send me a beta let me test it out for you and send us your feedback. There is no reason for this performance drop.
Thank you as always.
Charlene Yep, I noticed you said that too, and I'm quite sure my studio is not at all representative of the world. I use the current LR periodically to look at my raw files, and I decide whether to create a new DNG right away, or whether to try to adapt them if I think I can "swap in" a better result more easily. Maybe I'm a 1%er, but I actually pretty much only do my job (photography) on my 5D IMO. I want to create as much of my gallery as I can in Lightroom, to help it optimize itself for me.
